

Online Education

Awareness plays a vital role in reducing alcohol and drug related risk in the workplace.

The Australian Drug Foundation's Aware program is an online awareness and education tool that can be used as part of your existing workplace induction process. It can also complement your existing alcohol and drug policies.

Educating your employees about alcohol and drugs helps them make more informed decisions and can reduce the risk in your workplace.

The program provides information on how alcohol and certain drugs affect you, the financial impact to business through loss of productivity, absenteeism and injury, and how employees can manage situations as they arise. It also highlights that even when consumed at home or non-work events, alcohol and other drugs can still have a detrimental effect the next day at work.

Program Features:

- 20 minute program and online assessment
- Engaging 3D animation
- Realistic, thought provoking simulations
- Interactive reinforcement activities to promote learning
- Easy to implement and manage for administrator's
- No costly software required
- Unlimited number of employees per license
- Simple online reporting, tracks and records each employee's progress
